MILLERS' REGULARS WIN FROM ALL STARS

Regulars Roll In Good Form and Win From All Stars—K. C. League Teams Bowl.

Miller's Regulars bowled five rolled championship form last night at the Miller alleys and defeated the All Stars in a close game. Soultman and Richter of the All Stars rolled the high scores in the match with 223 and 227. Kueck and Yeoman won over the two hundred mark.

Cronin's Dairy company team won from the Myers Hotel men in an exciting contest. In all three events the hotel men were unable to get the lead on the dairy five. One of the Cronin brothers rolled the high score in the match with 217 pins. Osborn also rolled in the two hundred class.

Two matched games in the K. C. league were run off last night at the Miller alleys. The Cabbots defeated the Marquetties by a large margin, and the Baltimoreans won from the De Sotos.

Wisconsin Defeats Lawrence by Spurt
BY SCORE OF 46-16

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, Dec. 16.—Wisconsin defeated Lawrence at basketball here last night in a one-sided contest, the final score being 46 to 16. The champions of the "little five" conference held the Badgers to a 12 to 6 score in the first half and early in the second half threatened to tie the count, when a goal made the score stand 12 to 8. Not until late in the game did Wisconsin exhibit any championship play. Playing was ragged and fumbling was extremely noticeable under the Lawrence basket. Olson was not on the team, being laid up with a sore throat. Lewis was the individual star of the contest, causing ten goals from all angles of the floor.

Wisconsin played nine men during the encounter. Carlson being given his first chance to play and exhibit his good qualities. His work was of a high calibre, and he promises to be strong opposition for Chandler during the coming season. Capt. Hass played his usual game, at forward, while Smith, McIntosh and Meyers worked satisfactory to the audience. Rice and Wharfield starred for the visitors. Wharfield outplayed Chandler at baskets, while their playing was about even on the floor work.

Wisconsin plays the fast Wabash college five on the local floor on Monday evening, January third, after which the conference games will commence. The lineup and score of the Lawrence contest follows:
Wisconsin—Capt. Hass, Meyers, Lewis and McIntosh, forwards; Chandler, Carlson, center; Morris, Smith and Thomas guards.
Lawrence—Woodward, Rice, Kornreich and Whitmore, forwards; Wharfield, center; Capt. Saecker, Humphrey and Elliott, guards.
Field goals—Lewis, 2; Hass, 2; Chandler, 1; Morris, 2; Meyers, 1.

McIntosh, 2; Carlson, 1; Smith, 1; Thomas, 1; Wharfield, 3; Woodward, 2; Rice, 1; Levis, 2; Rice, 3; Wharfield, 1.
Referee—Reynolds, Chicago. Attendance—700.

MILTON WALLOPS THE K. C. LEAGUE
JANESVILLE Y. M. C. A. TEAM
Superior basket throwing by the Milton college team, especially by Lush at center, brought defeat upon the Janesville Y. M. C. A. team by a score of 32 to 12 at Milton last night. The Janesville five equaled the college squad at teamwork during the greater part of the game, but were very weak on throwing goals. Nearly half of Milton's points were made on goals by Lush.

MORRIS MILLER
Elmer Jacobs, a right-handed pitcher who has been on the Phillies' reserve list, has been obtained by the Pittsburgh Pirates. Jacobs after making the southern trip with the Phillies was sent to Albany to develop. At the end of the 1915 season he went back to the Phillies and they started arrangements to send Jacobs to Portland, Ore., next spring. But the Pittsburgh club refused to waive, and finally obtained Jacobs at the waiver price of $1,500. He is said to have developed in most deceptive spit ball—just the sort of a pitcher the Pirates say they need—and the Phillies may find that they have let go a very valuable asset by the time the next season is over.

Babe Turner of the Arkansas university football team is declared to be the tallest man playing the gridiron game. Turner is 6 feet, 7 inches tall in his stocking feet and weighs 238 pounds. He is nineteen years old. He was developed by Coach T. McConnell this fall.

Harvard university has scored 112 points against Yale eleven in the last four years, while Yale has made five points against Harvard the same time. Some time ago in the middle '60s, Yale beat this record by five points in four successive years, but not in four successive years. The years were 1855, 1858, 1886 and 1887.

Compared with the wonderful exhibition of team play by the Harvard eleven of 1914, against Yale the first meeting of these two university squads would appear almost laughable if it could be staged today. That contest was played at New Haven on Saturday, November 14, 1875, on a field measuring 400x200 feet, and was witnessed by about 1,500 spectators, including several hundred women.

It would not be at all surprising if Christy Mathewson would join the Feds next season and become the manager of the proposed New York team. Rumors to this effect have been going the rounds for some time. Several of the Fed officials have made the announcement that Mathewson will be with them if the scheme to put a club in New York goes through. Some one asked Garry Herrmann about the rumor as to Mathewson and he gave out the following statement: "I haven't any idea whether this is true or not. However, if it is, I do not think that the New York club would place any obstacles in the way of his accepting the offer at the box office. If he would come to President Hempstead with a big offer from the Feds, I am inclined to believe he would be given permission to accept it."

If, as some New York golf fans have figured, there are two million golfers in the United States, the sport that the canny scots founded seems to have the edge on all others in the country, from the point of number of participants, at least. The estimates were reached on figures furnished by golf ball manufacturers. However, the figure didn't take into consideration the number of the pecky balls that get lost in crooks or in the pockets of the cad. The manufacturers say that approximately 350,000 dozen new golf balls are sold in the United States and Canada each year. Allowing two balls for each player each season, and adding a certain percentage for old ones that are used, the experts reach the two million figure.

There are only two sports on the face of this fair green earth, according to Johnny Evers, second baseman extraordinary. These are baseball and golf. But the tribute to golf is significant, coming as it does from such a baseball enthusiast. Not long ago the captain of the Boston Braves was confined to a hospital with "charley horse" in the foot—or was it merely a sore foot, made sorer through his indulgence in the royal and ancient game? In any event the glowing tribute to golf came in the course of an interview in which he declared that if more pitchers would play the links game they would rarely be troubled with glass arms and the like.

MILLION TRAINED MEN WITHIN CALL

Estimate That There Is This Number of Men Fit to be Soldiers if War Call Comes

Washington, Dec. 16.—There are a million men in the United States who could respond to the colors in some form of military usefulness, if the call came. These are national guardsmen and ex-national guardsmen still of military age, ex-regular army men now in civil life, the majority of the Spanish War Veterans and men who have received training under authorized army officers in universities. There also are young men drilled under military men in high and private schools, and ex-U. S. marines, who have had land training.

Officers of the U. S. army admit this would be a highly convenient army nucleus in time of emergency, but the government does not know where any of these men are except the national guardsmen.

Roughly estimated, there are 500,000 national guardsmen over 15,000 army and navy alumni, between 130,000 and 200,000 Spanish War Veterans and 75,000 college cadets.

War department figures show there are now 8,705 officers and 120,033 enlisted men in the national guard. In the Spanish war, 223,235 volunteer officers and enlisted men served. In the colleges last year there were 25,000 who had drill and in the last ten years, 39,000 men have been graduated who had been trained two years.

Figures for ten years behind that easily make up the estimated total of 750,000 army officers say.

As to the regular army alumni, an average of 13,000 falls to re-enlist each year. The total for 1914 was 14,349. Even with the loss through deaths since discharge, incapacitations, removal to other countries and old age, the figures for twenty years should be 15,000 to 200,000 men.

Recent plans of enlistment in the war department call for three years with the colors and four in reserve. Before that, once a man's term of enlistment was up, the government gave no more attention to him.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 16.—As has been the custom in the past the state employees will receive their December salaries before Christmas. State Treasurer Johnson said today that there are so many requests for salaries at this time of the year a few days in advance that the state has long since adopted the policy of paying the employees a few days before Christmas, instead of at the first of the month. For this reason the executive committee of the board of normal schools held a meeting last night to audit the salaries of the normal school faculties.

AUGER WITH TWO HANDLES

Superior to the Older Implement for Certain Kinds of Work
The double-handled brace which has been patented recently will take the place of the older form of implement with one handle and a breast plate, for a great many purposes. The new one is designed for boring vertical holes principally, although it may be used for other kinds of work. In railroad building and many other kinds of construction work there are many vertical holes to be bored, and this tool will accomplish the work with much more ease and speed than can be done with the older form of tool. The two handles enable the workman to exert a greater power while the twist of the bit used in the brace is sufficient to carry its cutting end through the wood.

MERCHANT MARINE

It has been said in this place more than once, but the illustration is still pertinent, that the administration at Washington deals with admitted deficiencies in our national life, very much as a man who does not understand anything about a steel plate deals with a bulge in it. He takes a heavy hammer to hit the bulge, with the consequence of putting all the rest of the plate out of kilter. If he knew anything about steel plates, he would hit everything but the bulge.

This applies particularly to the idea of instituting an American merchant marine, says the Wall Street Journal. "The new proposal involves a federal board with jurisdiction over water transportation, somewhat analogous to the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission to the railroads, and the application of $50,000,000 for merchant ships also to be used as naval auxiliaries, and to be built in American shipyards, and leased or sold to corporations under contract, under the terms of the act."

"There is a material difference from the old bill, which was so creditably defeated in the last session of congress. It is in fact a step forward, but it is the radical defect."

"It is like a law without an enabling clause. Nobody disputes the desirability of an American merchant marine. But the economic problem requires that there shall be a basis rate of return upon investment which shall be attractive. If, indeed, there were a reasonable profit in owning ships and operating steamship lines, there would be no merchant marine problem at all."

"Because of world-wide competition of the most searching and destructive kind, there is no such security for our investor in steamships. Were his return any way comparable to the 8 or 10 per cent realized in successful industrial corporations, the position would be simple. If this basis rate for private capital could be raised to 8 or 9 per cent, there would be no lack of American enterprise in the deep-sea trade."

"One of the most encouraging suggestions was made by Irving T. Bush, president of the Bush Terminal company. He suggests what amounts in fact to the enabling clause now lacking. If the United States government guaranteed the payment of bonds, principal and interest, which might be issued, to the extent of 60 per cent or so at the cost of the ships, that issue might be based on not much worse than a 3 1/2 per cent basis. Supposing this percentage, this addition, its assurance of safety would bring up the present return on ship-building and owning to a level which would attract private capital."

"The country would have a real merchant marine, the navy a real auxiliary fleet, and there would be no necessity for the expenditure of a dollar by our overdrawn treasury; or indeed any expenditure except that involved in the proposed administrative board, which itself is superfluous."

COUNTRY CHURCHES.

One of the most vital matters discussed at a church and country life convention held the past week at Columbus, Ohio, has been a series of proposals for federating country churches. This is an age of consolidation, and the little rural churches can't afford to ignore it.

The spectacle of rival sanctuaries clustering around a village green is a familiar one in our rural life. On warm Sundays with the windows open the choirs seem to be trying to drown each other out. The practical result is an unholy competition, and many zealous members of these struggling and competing churches probably think they are doing God a service by the struggle to keep alive their peculiar out and style of religion. But more frequently it is a very human dislike for giving up their own way.

Some practical plans by which small churches in country towns can join forces, will no doubt result from this Columbus meeting. The over-churching small towns should swallow their pride and accept it. Sectarian feeling could be satisfied by arranging it so that the giving up of a parish or one denomination in one place should be offset by the yielding of another sect in another town.

Small churches that thus consolidate can then afford to raise the minister's salary as he grows capable of taking a larger parish. They will be able to put some paint on dingy walls and repair the cracked ceiling. They can beautify their worship with music, and conduct services having more dignity and interest.

A CORRECT VIEW.

Dean Birge of the University of Wisconsin is pretty level-headed when he comes down to solid facts. He has served long and faithfully as practical head of the institution the citizens are so proud of and what he says about facts should bear weight. Of course it is rank heresy on his part to dare to criticize the unusual political activity, pernicious activity would be truer, of certain university professors. Yet when he says that "He did not want any of his professors to be bothered with any thoughts of the state and what they are hired to teach the students at the university and any other consideration merely lessened their efficiency in the classroom," he tread upon dangerous ground.

Of course the dean is right. It is just what the conservative republicans have insisted upon right along and what the reform element have contested. They want the state government made an experimental ground for the university professors to practice their theories on. It has been done in the past to the detriment of the taxpayers' pocketbooks. Yet it is on just these grounds that the governor is being attacked by his enemies who seek to loot the public treasury for their own personal ends. Dean Birge dared a whole lot when he took the stand he did, and it is surprising that the State Journal would quote him as he did. Perhaps their "university" editor was not on the job for the moment, but any way the cat is out of the bag and the public ought to be glad to know what a real educator thinks about the college professor mixing in state affairs and political squabbles.

INDIAN BLOOD.

In the early days of the republic, an infusion of Indian blood would have been considered a bar sinister. No one ever spoke well for the half-breed. But as the generations go on, many of our older families are showing pride in having in their lineage some infusion of Indian blood. Among them is the family of Mrs. Gail, the president's fiancée. Thus the Indian tribes for the first time will now be able to claim some slight kinship with an occupant of the White House.

Seen near to, the Indian was never popular. The idea that the only good Indian is the dead one was always the view of the frontier. He was a terror from the responsibilities of civilization. As many of them are now settling down on cultivating land like white folks, the virtues of his race may be better recognized.

Most of the aboriginal strains are thick witted earth-born creatures, slow of thought and dull of apprehension. The Indian was quick, alert, nervous, lithe of motion, passionate, capable of affectionate loyalty and fendish revenge. He had his own beauty of imagery and was not lacking in fine ideals. He was the poet of the stone age, a dreamer and mystic.

Other undeveloped races have gradually adjusted themselves to the white man's regime of sober industry. The negro never rebelled at being a hewer of wood and drawer of water. But for the Red man, tilling the ground has been but slavery to a proud spirit.

Once the owners of a continent, the Indian is but an insignificant factor in our life today. Only a slight infusion of his blood has entered our race. If old families like Mrs. Gail's are proud of it, it is as a poetic sentiment rather than a sign of the age of the family tree. The remnants of the race, however, inherit qualities of endurance and imagination, which properly trained in the yoke of industry will yet be valuable.

CHRISTMAS GIVING.

It is more blessed to give than to receive. Please keep that in mind in planning for your Christmas this year. There is need for money and new toys to be distributed by the Associated Charities, happy on our Lord's birthday. The wise men of the East brought their presents to the infant in the manger, setting us an example to follow. There are homes in Janesville where Christmas is a basket for the dinner and toys for the smaller members of the family arrive. Think it over and when the time comes for your Christmas appropriation lay aside one share for the Associated Charities and their work, which last all through the year where it is most needed.

Congress won't make any bones of raising hundreds of millions for preparedness, but there was a distinct sign of relief when it was intimated that a third wedding present for the White House would not be expected.

There is a widespread feeling among the boys that a twenty cent pocket knife is not an adequate compensation for attending Sunday school five weeks before Christmas.

About now the church must be decorated, but it is hard to tell whether it is more work to chase around and get a committee to consent to do it, or to take hold and do the work yourself.

The choice of a vice president never attracts any attention, but thus far the delegates have always remembered to put one in nomination before going home.

In view of the threat that automobiles may cost more next year, many people feel it is the only thrifty and prudent course to borrow money to buy one now.

The show windows of the town at holiday time could be regarded as an interesting industrial exposition, if one had to travel and pay down good money to see them.

There are optimists who figure out a profit on the post office operations, but so far they haven't made any claim that the Panama canal is on a dividend basis.

The young folks are soon coming back from college for the holidays and to see the old folks, and they will be found at home at least at meal times.

It is the popular thing in making Christmas gifts to surprise your friends, but it would be often more merciful to break it to them gently.

Some people having resolved to shop early, will make great efforts to buy their gifts at least three days before Christmas.

Clell Bixby, who is married again, was divorced from his first wife, "Yes," he said to an old friend who came in yesterday after a long absence. "I am serving my second term."

When a man can restrain his indignation long enough to shed his coat the fight never comes off.

It is but fair to say, however, that the sex should not be judged by the Indiana girl who had a man arrested on the charge that he attempted to kiss her.

When a man begins to raise money on his clothing the first bundle offered at the pawnshop contains his white gloves.

After the girl's folks have told everything else about the engagement they break the news to the prospective bridegroom.

It is Tank Beverly's idea that a girl should wait the inventor of a device which will enable a fat man to scratch his own back.

Inspect a girl's dressing table and you will find that most of the stuff displayed upon it is bait for men.

This rule holds good in most instances. In looking for trouble first find an affinity.

When a man says his baby waked the household but once during the night, is he boastful or apologetic?

Search the gentleman who worries publicly about the attacks of the ignorant public on capital and the chances are that you will find a re-acting face in his pocket.

Failure may also be defined as a barber's effort to comb a customer's hair in a manner satisfactory to the latter.

Children are so much wiser nowadays that they are beginning to demand that Santa Claus produce also Eskimos.

Progress has been made in nearly every other field of endeavor, but it is impossible to learn to play a violin by mail.

One authority advises girls to marry round-faced men. And the girls will do it unless the thin-faced men are first on the ground.

When a man stays up to watch the old year out and the new one in, that is a sign a woman also stayed up.

You will have noticed that the crocheted cravat, which went away from Arkansas, came back by way of New York.

On the Spur of the Moment

ROY K. MOULTON

REEL I.

Here by the name of Hal, lives a simple country gal. She's a peach. Her name is Sal. Wed that gal, be sure you shall. Villain wants the maiden much. Has her father in his clutch. Old man's cheerful as a crutch.

REEL II.

Villain motions she must wed. Or he'll motions on the old homestead. Hero hasn't got a red. To the altar Sal is led. Hero rushes upon the scene. These words flash upon the screen: "You shall never wed this queen; Me or you will bite the green."

REEL III.

Villain steals the gal away. He'll wed her another day. He's the hero, poor young Jay. To the altar Sal is led. Sal, she goes and gets a knife. Cuts the cord and saves his life. Then there comes the deadly strife, Deciding which will win the wife.

REEL IV.

Give and take. It is some bout. And the husk country lout Knocked the villain good and out. On the screen: "She's mine, by a rout. Minister unites the gal To her lover, faithful Hal. Hero says for life he'll stay. Pay the board of charming Sal. Some hero!"

A Ford Film.

It was just like a movie down in Cedar county the other day when Ernest McWilliams bought a new Ford and started home with it. He met a buggy with a man, woman and girl in it, and the team ran away. The boy who was driving the car looked back to see how the team was doing, and went off the end of a bridge, breaking a rod and a lamp. Then William Reed, the blacksmith, who tried to take the car to his shop, ran it into a ditch and turned it over, throwing everybody out. Nobody hurt. Case County (Mo.) Leader.

The Good Old Times.

Sez Lemuel Hicks, sez he to me: The times ain't like what they used to be. When a feller could go with a ten-cent piece And get enough bacon for to grease the pancake griddle all nice and neat And then to have a good chunk left to eat. Then butter was 15 cents a pound, And we always had enough to go around.

A feller would go with a dollar bill And a whole blamed grocery order fill. But nowadays for a five bank note A feller can't get more'n he kin tote Right home in the pocket of his overcoat. Beats all how far a feller could go.

On a dollar back forty years or so. But prices are gittin' so gol darn high. We'll all eat hay like a horse bimbeby. Them good old days we will see no more. When a man with a dollar could buy out a store. But there is one thing that we must allow. There wasn't so many dollars as there are right now.

The Daily Novelette

The Hero.

Consider now the ankle watch. A which seems to be. A thing we hear a lot about. And never see. "What! What!!!" roared the big man in a voice of thunder. "Who's a liar?"

"You are!" replied the little man firmly. "What!! What!!!" yelled the big man in a voice of thunder and lightning.

"You heard what I said," retorted the little man. "And if you give me any more of your cheek I'll—I'll do something to cut you off short, I tell you!"

"What!! What!!!" boomed the big man, and his face grew black as two acres of spades, but the little man wasn't fazed in the least. He made a mocking face.

"Do you dare me?" he said. "Yes, I dare you, you little sniveling shrimp, you saved-off, barnyard town, squeezed-together, condensed—"

There was a sharp click. The little man had hung up, cutting the big man off short, just as he had so fearlessly threatened.

Edgerton News

Edgerton, Dec. 16.—The Men's club of the Congregational church will meet tomorrow evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Conn. The subject for discussion will be "Resolved, That Dr. Hazlett's method of ridding the country of defectives is right."

Several speakers will be present and a good lively discussion of a vitally important topic is anticipated. A. S. Flagg transacted business at Evansville yesterday.

Mrs. J. Holton and Mrs. C. E. Shannon called on Stoughton friends yesterday.

Mrs. W. Learn and daughter, Miss May, were Janesville visitors yesterday.

George Harrison left yesterday morning to attend the horse show at Chicago.

Mrs. Wm. Davis is confined to her home with the la grippe.

George Perry of Montana has been visiting at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. Anderson, for a few days.

Mrs. R. E. Hopkins called on Janesville friends yesterday.

Fred Brown has been confined to his home for the past few days with a bad cold. On Tuesday night, Mrs. Brown started to go down stairs for a hot water bottle for Mr. Brown and tripped on a rug and fell headlong down the stairs. In some manner in her fall, she caught her little finger and tore it, splitting it to the center of her hand. A doctor was called and the injured member was properly attended to.

Miss Lizzie Stark called on Janesville friends Wednesday.

George Farnham transacted business at Watworth today.

D. W. North was a Capitol city caller yesterday.

P. N. Grubb is a legal business caller to Janesville today.

Dr. Daniel Hopkins of Chicago, and Mrs. A. P. and Ford Shearer and Dr. Morrison were called in consultation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Ellington in regard to their little daughter, Ruth, who is suffering with pneumonia. Her condition is unchanged at this writing.

Master Sammie Wileman is confined to his bed with a complication of diseases that is baffling the doctors.

H. S. McGinn of Sparta is in the local tobacco market for a few days.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet at the home of Mrs. E. S. Hatch tomorrow afternoon at 2 p. m. and a talk will be given by Mrs. W. Dickinson on the Rest Cottage as she saw it.

The 1916 Edgerton telephone directory is being distributed by the company.

The community Christmas tree has arrived in the city and will be erected some time today on the square near the drinking fountain. It is rather a large tree and will present quite a sight when erected and lighted with electric lights.

About sixteen couples attended the banquet and Christmas tree of the bridge breaking branch of the Y. M. C. A. under the supervision of Mr. Adolph Jensen last evening at the high school. Prof. and Mrs. Lewis chaperoned the party and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The boys of the group prepared the banquet themselves. Following is the menu: Veal loaf, cream potatoes and sandwiches, fruit salad, wafers and ice cream, cake, cocoa, candy and nuts. There were presents on the tree for all and it was stipulated that no present should cost more than 50c. Every one present had a good time and as they departed they decorated the Spartan branch of the boys Y. M. C. A. to be royal entertainers.

CHRISTMAS STORY HOUR

WILL BE HELD SATURDAY

The Christmas Story hour will be held at the Public Library Saturday, December 18, at 10:30. All children are invited. Parents are requested not to send the children before 10 o'clock, as the doors are not open before that hour.

PRECARIOUS PLACE TO SLEEP: ON LOCAL RAILWAY TRACKS

Fred Foster, Cleveland, a C. & N. W. bridge builder, was the only candidate this morning before Judge Maxwell in Municipal court. Foster was found drunk between the car tracks on Milwaukee street, near High street, last night. He paid his fine of ten dollars and costs, eliminating a visit of ten days at Hotel Chamberlain.

Chinese Amulet.
One of the commonest amulets worn by an only son in China is a small silver locket, according to the authors of "The Book of Talismans." The father collects coins from about a hundred different heads of families, and has them exchanged for silver, which is converted into a native padlock used to fasten a silver chain round the boy's neck. This, it is believed, will preserve him from evil spirits, lock him to life and contribute to his health and longevity.

ASTRONOMER SPOKE AT CHURCH MEETING

J. A. Parkhurst Gave Interesting Talk to Men of Presbyterian Brotherhood Last Night.

Prof. J. A. Parkhurst of Lake Geneva was the speaker last night at the monthly meeting of the Presbyterian Brotherhood. About forty-five men attended the meeting and dinner. The first part of the program was taken up with a number of business matters, after which the members adjourned to their place of meeting and listened to an interesting talk from Prof. Parkhurst. In January the brotherhood will attend the joint meeting at the Methodist church in a body, at which Governor Phillip will speak.

Prof. Parkhurst's talk last night was in the form of a stereoscopic lecture, showing photographs of stars, eclipses of the sun and the moon, and many other interesting facts concerning the heavens. Mr. Parkhurst has for the past fifteen years been recording astronomical data at the Yerkes Observatory at Lake Geneva. His slides gave views of the place where he makes his observations and many interesting pictures of some of the mammoth instruments which are used.

MARY PICKFORD SEEN WITH BROTHER JACK

"A Girl of Yesterday" a Delightful Little Film Confection.

For the first time Mary Pickford and her brother, Jack, were seen in brother and sister roles and as a result "The Girl of Yesterday" at the Apollo last evening was an absorbingly interesting picture.

This play, which little Mary describes as an effort of her own originality, is a bright, sweet little confection, is about a quaint little girl with a lot of money who tries the social swim for awhile, nearly getting drowned. Then she goes back to her quinness, and the young man who loves her comes along and repeats what he has said before—namely, that she is all right. It is full of Mary Pickford's personality and humor.

AT THE PRINCESS.

Girl Lured Into Mock Marriage in "Judge Not."

Lured into a mock marriage by a gambler, an innocent girl becomes the prey to a gambler's passion. How she extricates herself from a seemingly hopeless situation forms the theme of "Judge Not," one of the most gripping photodramas yet produced on Broadway, which comes to the Princess theatre on Friday with Julia Dean in the leading feminine role. Miss Dean, who is now being featured on the road in "The Law of the Land," is supported by Harry D. Carey, star of the Universal Broadway production, "Just Jim." "Judge Not" was adapted to the film in five acts by Harvey Gates of the Universal west coast staff from the original story of Peter B. Kync. Robert Z. Leonard, co-star with Ella Hall in and director of "The Master Key" photoplay serial, produced the picture.

AT MYERS THEATRE.

"On Trial," which is shortly to be seen here, is entirely worthy of the attention it is attracting. It is for no other reason than it tells a rational yet thrilling life story that is worked out with the usual illusions of stagecraft. Then too, a novelty is found in the author's mode of presentation. He has written his play backward so to speak, and in doing so has been accused of taking his idea from "On Trial." Be that as it may, "On Trial" is the most talked about play in years.

"On Trial" is a Cohan & Harris production. It was written by Elmer L. Reizenstein, who is a master of the playwriting game he made the wisest of that craft "sit up" and pay a lot of attention.

Mr. Reizenstein's skill has not taken the form of extraordinary strength in dialogue, but is shown in the entire original manner of developing his plot and story. In these particulars "On Trial" is nearly if not quite a flawless piece of work. If we are to entertain the opinion of some of the best critics who voice it.

"On Trial" will be seen at Myers Theatre tonight.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Terrific Wreck Scene in "The Juggernaut."

You will see it all the giant locomotive hurling itself with its train of cars through space into the river below, you see the smashed up cars and struggling passengers and seeing you have hard work from shrieking aloud. It is the sensation of a lifetime.

Remarkable, too, is the work of wonderful Anita Stewart and Earle Williams in this greatest of all railroad dramas. There is added perfection of picture making and acting to the thrill of modern railroading.

The first performance of "The Juggernaut" at the Majestic tonight will begin at 7:15, and the admission is 10c for all seats.

HANOVER SCHOOL WILL GIVE XMAS PROGRAM

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Hanover, Dec. 16.—The children of the Hanover school will render a delightful program Thursday evening, December 23, in the town hall. "Unexpected Company" and "The District School at Blueberry Corners," two real, live, up to the minute plays, will be given. Also a real live Santa Claus.

WILL PLAY LEADING ROLE IN SUFFRAGE PAGEANT AT NATIONAL CAPITAL, DEC. 13

Mrs. Flora Kays Hanson as Susan B. Anthony.

Mrs. Flora Kays Hanson of Washington has been chosen by the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage to take the part of Susan B. Anthony in the great pageant to be held in Washington December 13, as a demonstration to congress of woman's demand for the passage of the Anthony amendment enfranchising women. In the picture she represents Susan B. Anthony at the age of forty in 1860.

will be in evidence—something doing all the time. The public will be welcome to attend this program and a large attendance is expected to be there.

WISCONSIN HOTEL MEN PLAN OPEN LID NEW YEARS.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 16.—The lid will be absent in New Year's celebrations in Wisconsin, if plans made by the Wisconsin Greeters' association, an organization of hotel men in convention here today, are carried out.

The greeters discussed ways and means of showing their patrons a merry time in greeting the New Year and many novel means beside turning the lights out at midnight and other work out customs, were suggested.

Milwaukee hotel men are the only ones who did not enter heartily into the plans. Chief of Police John T. Janssen has not given the word to go ahead and hide the lid in Milwaukee.

About one hundred are attending the sessions. There will be a banquet tonight at the Maryland hotel. Fred Long of the Aberdeen hotel, Milwaukee is secretary of the organization.

ADVICE TO SPEED WALKERS

Novice on Track Must Learn to Hold Himself "Well Balanced on His Pins."

In starting on the track the novice should hold himself as erect as possible, without, however, leaning at all backward, the arms at the sides, with the forearms in a horizontal position, at right angles to the part of the arms above the elbows. He should have a feeling of being "well balanced on his pins," says a writer in Outing.

The weight must be kept on the heels—therein lies the chief secret of walking fairly. Speed depends on two factors, the length and the frequency of the stride. Experiments prove that the length of the stride becomes greater as the frequency increases.

Arm action should be carefully cultivated. Properly used, the arms seem to act as levers to lift forward the body, besides helping to balance it. In each stride one foot should be always on the ground and at some moment of the stride some part of both feet should be on the ground simultaneously—that is the first necessity. Second in importance is to have the walk "heel and toe"—that is, the heel of each foot should strike the ground unmistakably first and the toe of each foot should be the last part to leave it. One should not walk flat-footed, with the ball of the foot or any part except the heel striking the ground before the heel does. Lastly, the knee should be "jockeyed" at the end of each stride—the grounded leg should be stiff and taut as the loose leg swings out for the next stride.

of a suit for the alienation of the affections of his wife, Miss Mary Wolf, was present in Judge Becker's court when Griffiths was discharged. His presence was discovered by the "book broker" who turned white, then rushed to the side of Sheriff Holbraa in the lobby of the court house and demanded protection, declaring: "I know you are a good man and will protect me. What is here and I want to get me. I want your protection."

Although he had planned to leave immediately for his home in a Chicago suburb, Griffiths is still determined when he will leave, fearing, according to those who had talked with him, that the University of Wisconsin professor might follow him and chastise him.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps you fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken daily after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and poison-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh. Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.—Advertisement.

FULTON

Fulton, Dec. 15.—Charles Zeman and wife and baby spent a few days in Janesville the first of the week.

Professor Holt, principal of the Edgerton high school, will speak at the social center Wednesday evening.

Ice in the river backed up high enough to flood the pit where they are putting in the new cement dam here on Tuesday night. Very low water on Tuesday morning, which let the ice settle in the river below the dam, and then the water raising at night with plenty of slush ice running, is what made the jam and was probably caused by the operations of the Stoughton dam which has just been completed.

The ladies' fair and supper last Friday evening netted the ladies the neat sum of $75. Quite a number were down from Edgerton and all had a good time.

T. S. Sniggar returned to his home in Walkerville, Canada, on Tuesday.

P. S. Raymond spent a few days in Janesville last week.

Ester Fessenden and S. H. Bentley took a trip to Stoughton last Friday.

LONDON PAPERS PRAISE NEW FRENCH LOAN SYSTEM FOR RAISING WAR FUNDS.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Dec. 16.—The London financial papers point to the new French loan as the most attractive government security that has been launched since the beginning of the war. The price of 88 per cent of the five per cent rent means a yield of nearly 5 1/2 per cent, while the English or American investor, with the additional advantage of an unusual exchange rate, obtains a yield considerably higher.

It is interesting to note in this connection what happened to the French loans issued in connection with the Franco-Prussian war of 1870. In spite of the fact that on that occasion France was defeated and was required to pay a heavy indemnity, the loans quickly rose to par. The French loans of 1870 and 1872, bearing 5 per cent, were issued at $2.50 and $4.50. By 1870 they were quoted in the market at as high as 100 and they went on rising until 1880 they reached 120.85, their highest. They were subsequently converted.

TWO YEARS OF WAR WILL COST TWENTY MILLION LIVES.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Dec. 16.—The total destruction of life during two years of war will reach 20,000,000 persons, declared Professor Louis C. Parker, of the Government Health Service, at the annual meeting of the Royal Institute of Sanitarians, just concluded here.

The speaker expressed the hope, however, that this loss of life might somehow prove a blessing in disguise, resulting eventually in a distinct improvement in European civilization.

"In the past ages," said Professor Parker, "evolution of higher types in animal and vegetable life has generally resulted from cataclysmic changes, and great destruction by plague, pestilence, and famine has led to an advance in civilization. So it is possible that this Armageddon may be of ultimate benefit to humanity."

Touching on the lowering birthrate in Great Britain, the speaker declared that every country in Europe has shown a decreasing birthrate during the past decade, with the exception of Bulgaria, Rumania and Ireland.

PORTRAIT GALLERY SHUTS ITS DOORS DURING WAR.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Dec. 16.—Unknown to the vast majority of Londoners, the National Portrait Gallery shut its doors several weeks ago to remain closed until after the war. The work of transporting the more important portraits of British monarchs and celebrities to a place of greater safety began some months ago, so the collection had lost much of its interest to sightseers.

The National Portrait Gallery lies just behind the National Gallery, which faces Trafalgar Square. While the most celebrated paintings have been taken from the National Gallery, the minor works of the great masters and the best work of the lesser painters remain, and the art critic who is employed by the government to lecture to visitors on the various schools of painting conducts his daily class.

Owing to their more isolated positions, the Tate and Wallace collections have not suffered materially through fear of Zeppelin raids.

Present Christmas Programs In City Schools On Friday

Tomorrow afternoon will mark the close of all the schools in the city for the year of nineteen hundred and fifteen. In nearly every grade the event will be marked by special Christmas programs. In some of the schools plays will be given and in others short programs will be held and the schools dismissed early.

At the high school the program will be given in the afternoon, under the direction of Miss Alice Donnelly. The exercises will be very interesting and the parents of the students are well advised to attend. In some of the ward schools the grades will have combined programs, while others will have them alone. At the Adams and Douglas schools the programs will be held in the evening at seven-thirty o'clock. This will enable the fathers of many of the pupils to attend, an opportunity which is seldom offered.

The parochial schools of the city will close for the Christmas holidays the same time as the other schools of the city and open again on the same date. At the St. Joseph's convent Christmas exercises will be held tomorrow afternoon. The other two schools will not have programs.

The following are the programs which will be held at the different schools of the city:

SHOW ME STATE CORN FARM BOYS' CONTEST

J. A. Craig Secures Photographs of Prize Exhibits from the Father of the "Trenton Idea."

Several days ago Al Sioux City, Ia., J. A. Craig of the Janesville Machine company and president of the Janesville Commercial club, dined with Thomas W. Willen of Trenton, Mo. Mr. Willen will be remembered in Janesville as he spoke last February at the Twilight club on the Trenton idea, that phase of community cooperation between city and county and businessmen and farmers. Mr. Willen is known throughout the United States as the father of the Trenton idea.

Grundy county, Missouri, in which Trenton is located, is highly interested in better agricultural pursuits and it was with some degree of pleasure that the Show Me state man exhibited photographs of the prize corn from the boys' corn contest, fostered at Trenton under similar conditions as that of the Janesville Commercial club in Rock county.

The photographs are reproduced here to show Rock county farmers and their sons that this county is no alone in its competition of similar nature. Missouri, last summer, experienced a late season and harvested an excellent crop. The result of the Grundy county contest is a credit to the Trenton business men, who for the past six years have been preaching pure seed, proper cultivation, etc. Mr. Willen told Mr. Craig that the exhibit would be forwarded to the National Corn Growers convention this year, to enter into competition for honors from the nation as a whole.

Grundy county is ahead of Rock county with their corn contest, it is related, but this is solely due to the fact that the Trenton men have been conducting the contests over a period of at least six years. Rock county's efforts are commendable and those in charge of ever looking elsewhere for ideas to incorporate in the local efforts to place them on par with any of other state in the union.

MUCH SHIPBUILDING IN PORTS OF KOBÉ

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Kobe, Japan, Dec. 16.—No visitor who enters Kobe by sea can fail to observe the great activity in shipbuilding at this port. The most heavily capitalized shipyard in Japan is located here and a great number of smaller ones are in course of construction. Electrical steel rivets keep up a constant din which can be heard far out at sea.

In June there were forty-four ships aggregating 188,000 tons in the hands of Japanese builders and the tonnage has increased considerably since that time. Though the exact figure is not available, all Japanese shipyards have orders which will keep them at high pressure for over a year. The scarcity of cargo space which the entire world is feeling, has thrown much business into the Japanese shipyards.

The shipyard at Osaka is reported to have nearly 100,000 tons of steel ships in course of construction. It is estimated that there is a tonnage of 75,000 in course of construction here in Kobe and small yards in various ports probably have a tonnage of 25,000 under way.

Prices for ships have risen at amazing rates. Freight is congested at practically every important port in the Far East. In giving orders, the shipping concerns naturally about the speed with which a commission can be executed rather than the charge. It is rumored that the right of placing orders for new ships is being bought at a high premium by those interested in shipbuilding transactions.

That Resemblance.
"What a funny looking man that conductor is!" said Mrs. Jiggles on the trolley. "Yes," said Jiggles. "I've been trying to think whom he looks like. His face is very familiar to me." "Oh, I know who it is!" said Mrs. Jiggles. "It's our goldfish!"—Judge.

BREWERY CORPORATION BLAMED FOR ILLEGAL SALOON BY CERMAK

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Although he admitted the existence of illegally operated saloons, A. J. Cermak, secretary of the United Societies, today told why it is impossible to eradicate them through brewery corporation.

Cermak conceded the inability of municipal governments to stamp out saloons with red light tendencies. He added it might be possible to stamp out such saloons by brewers refusing to sell them. No such move has been started, however, because of complications involved.

"The breweries are fifty-two in number," said Cermak. "Of these are owned by the saloon keepers. Of the remaining forty-two, there are many who would knowingly sell to illegitimate places. By brewers refusing to sell such places others would. Competition is too keen."

Cermak denied that many saloon licenses are bought by breweries. He said that where this condition existed, for the protection of the brewers or where brewers owned buildings a fixtures that would give them a leverage over saloon keepers, he did not believe the law was being broken.

Publicly, he admitted, might "smoke out" the illegal saloon keeper. Wide advertisement of the co-operation of the liquor interest in a movement to stamp out the illegal saloon might help, he said.

MORE THAN 700 GEMS OF THE FIRST WATER ARE FOUND IN "HEART THROBS"

One statement may be made of those two remarkable volumes, entitled "Heart Throbs," now being distributed by this paper to its readers, that could hardly be said of any other book. In all their thousand pages there is not to be found one dull or stupid line. Every page glows with genuine interest. Besides the matchless treasures of English literature, the French, German, Russian and Persian literatures have yielded up their jewels, which are to be found scattered in profusion through the books. If one picks up a volume to dip into it, he cannot lay it down. He finds innumerable old friends looking out from between its covers, and he encounters so many new ones that in

THE VALUE OF TRUTH

Truth in business is just as important as truth in every-day life; truth creates confidence, establishes good-will and builds a reliability that will not be wrecked by the storms of competition.

Through three generations people have learned to place reliance on the advertised words of Scott's Emulsion, because they are untarnished, unexaggerated truths about a household remedy of real and actual worth.

The popularity of Scott's Emulsion is increasing as intelligence advances, because in these days of adulterations it continues to guarantee pure cod liver oil medicinally perfected with glycerine and hypophosphites to build strength, improve the blood and strengthen the lungs. It is free from harmful drugs—a wholesome food- tonic, truthfully advertised.

SLIGHTLY WOUNDED IS WELCOMED FATE BY THE SOLDIERS

Description of Work on the Hospital Ships in Turkish Cities.—A Relief From Trenches.

Around the French Hospital Ship Charles Roux, Harbor of Saloniki, Dec. 16.—Quite the most agreeable fate that can overtake an allied soldier in the Balkan campaign is to be ill—or slightly wounded. Not that the hospital facilities of the ancient Turkish city are famous, or even adequate. They are not. But there are four French and one British hospital ship in the harbor of Saloniki and they constitute by far the most comfortable place to rest, not only a sanitary spot in the Balkan peninsula.

The French have been better prepared from the very outset of the present Balkan campaign in every detail of military organization than their British allies. No better example of the thoroughness of this preparation could be given than the arrangements for caring for the sick and wounded. Long before there was actually any need for it and simultaneously with the landing of the first contingent of French troops on Greek soil, the French ship Sphinx was lying ready in the harbor of Saloniki. As the number of troops disembarked increased, automatically more hospital ships put in an appearance. First the Duxay Trouin, with its sheltered decks and its high stern like the poop of a Spanish galleon, all porches and awnings and lounging places for the convalescent; next this ship, the Charles Roux, with its operating rooms, its surgical clinics and its complete provision for the care of the more seriously wounded; and finally the Canada—all with full complement of nurses, surgeons, physicians, sisters of charity and all the rest of the paraphernalia of the aftermath of battle.

In many ways the Charles Roux is the most interesting, especially as it is the principal operating theatre of the floating hospitals of Saloniki, and especially as the Surgeon Major Dr. Heitz-Boyer, is one of the most distinguished and best known surgeons in Paris. The ship was converted from one of the larger passenger steamers that sail in the regular route of the voyage from Marseilles to Algier. As such, it is roomy enough, for not only have the saloons not required as operating chambers, been turned into wards to add to the accommodation of the cabins, but the great broad decks have been glassed in, making the most agreeable of sun-parlors in which cots are set in long rows so that the sick and wounded, in the warmth of the afternoon sun, may lie quiet and look out at the splendid view the Bay of Saloniki roads.

Here, too, the convalescent, propped up with pillows, sheltered excellently cared for and competently nursed by volunteer French women who have passed the necessary examinations and had the requisite experience, gather strength against the time when they may go back and "have another go at 'em," as the "polly" in the next cot to the Associated Press correspondent put it. Under such circumstances the wounded soldier has all the advantages and none of the drawbacks of "the Staples of the Orient," as its inhabitants call Saloniki. If his cot is on the south side of the ship, he has before him the new snow-capped crests of the mountains of Kalkis, those three fingers of land that stretch into the Aegean with crown-crowned Mt. Athos tipping the last finger. Or, to the west, confused with the clouds, he has the peaks of Thessaly—Mt. Olympus, the home of the gods of ancient Greece, and beyond Mt. Ossa; and perhaps even, dim in the distance, Mt. Pelion, both of mythological fame. The rare and changing beauty of the clouds above these snow-capped heights, the regular coloring of the sunsets are joy to the patients aboard the French hospital ships in no wise lessened by the odors, the noises and the discomforts of life ashore in Saloniki.

On the other hand, should the patient be placed on the north side of the ship, the view is no less attractive. Salubrious, charming from a distance, stretching out from the curving shore, mounting the hill behind the town to the walled Citadel that caps its crest—dozens of exquisite, white, minaret-like minarets gleam and shimmer like altars of light, and the minarets are flanked by lanterns against the fete of Ramadan; long unbroken rows of mysterious houses, with projecting latticed balconies, walled and secret gardens, revealing only the lofty monument of a single express; barren spots on the people hillside that are cemeteries, the grey-white of their domed headstones gleaming in the morning sun.

Below decks, all is ready for any and every operation. Every kind of electric light gives the surgeon all the facilities necessary for searching wounds, flows of blood, cases contain shining instruments, white porcelain tables display shallow glass dishes for sterilizing the instruments, each dish covered with a heavy glass plate to keep out any extraneous substance. Each specialist has his own operating room, in addition to which there is a very complete pharmacy, a biological laboratory, an X-ray apparatus with the necessary facilities for photographing the inside of the patient and a perfectly equipped darkroom to develop the photographs. In completion of the picture, there are the strictest of little sisters of charity, their great, white, wing-like head dresses bobbing and nodding as the wearers hurry hither and thither, a chain upon which are hung the keys to the supply closets dangling from their waists, a tin of baked and sterilized bandages under one arm—or a packet of books and magazines destined for some convalescent patient.

All of this is the work of the women of France—the organization known as "Succor for Wounded Soldiers," whose committee even now is in Saloniki, looking after arrangements, criticizing, making suggestions and charging themselves with securing from the great hearts of the French women all that may be needed to see that the soldiers of the French Republic, however far they may be from home, shall have every proper care and comfort.

Grammar.
Grammar is the science, or art, of correct speech. It is quite true that some people are able to speak and write correctly without having studied the rules as laid down in grammar, but it is none the less true that but for a knowledge of the rules the majority of people would write and speak in a most barbarous fashion.

Mrs. Cavell.

A "grand old lady" is Mrs. Cavell, the mother of Edith Cavell, the British nurse whose last words before her execution were, "I am happy to die for my country." To perpetuate the memory of her daughter there is now a plan on foot in England to organize the Cavell memorial fund.

JAP PREMIER AND WIFE AT CORONATION

Count and Countess Okuma in coronation robes.

Aside from the imperial family itself, the most important figure at the coronation of Yoshihito as emperor of Japan was Premier Okuma. This photograph of the prime minister and his wife in their coronation robes was taken at the imperial residence at Tokio, from where they accompanied Emperor Yoshihito and his family to Kioto, where the ceremonies took place.

A PRISONER IN THE FRENCH CAMP

The expression on the face of this German military dog shows the life of a prisoner in a French concentration camp adds little to the joy of living. Sad and forlorn looking, the dog, which was captured by the French, is seen here after he had been dressed by his captors in the garb of a German landstrum soldier.

SAFETY FIRST LAWS FOR SAFE TRAFFIC

Careless Walking Public Must Be Educated to Prevent Accidents, Says Commissioner Woods.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
New York, Dec. 16.—A careless walking public and reckless auto drivers are responsible for most of the auto killings and other accidents on the streets of American cities. In the opinion of Police Commissioner Woods of New York City, Campaign against jaywalking and reckless driving have been inaugurated in New York and many other cities recently.

"The only remedy for this condition," said Commissioner Woods today, "is the education of the public, centralization in the authorities of control over chauffeurs, the improvement of traffic conditions and the streets."

"Arrests and fines have failed to teach drivers anything. The courts have been too lenient with these offenders. This, however, does not excuse the pedestrian's carelessness. The jaywalker, or person who crosses the street between blocks, increases public danger, decreases police protection and tends generally to prevent the recovery of damages in case of injury."

Rules May Save Your Life.

For Pedestrians:
1. "Don't let your familiarity with traffic breed contempt for its dangers."
2. "Don't forget that if you are carrying a large bundle or an open umbrella, part of your view may be cut off."
3. "Don't vacillate on the approach of a vehicle. The driver will be better able to avoid striking you if you act nonchalantly."
4. "Don't forget that the proper place to cross the street is at the crosswalk."

5. "Don't day-dream when crossing the street; you are likely to wake up in the hospital."
6. "Don't jump on or off a moving car."

"Don't try to anticipate when a driver is going to stop or start. Give him space to pass you."

For Chauffeurs:
8. "Don't imagine you are a careful driver because you shout or toot your horn at a pedestrian."

9. "Don't lose sight of the fact that the pedestrian is also permitted to use the roadway."

10. "Don't forget that children must play and that the streets are sometimes the only place where they can play."

11. "Don't forget that the operator of a motor vehicle has the same responsibility as the engineer of a train."

12. "Don't fail to anticipate that persons will cross at the crossings and that you must slow down."

13. "Don't imagine that traffic regulations were made for everybody but yourself."

14. "Don't race home after your day's work. This practice caused most of the wagon accidents last year."

15. "Don't fail to examine your brakes occasionally."

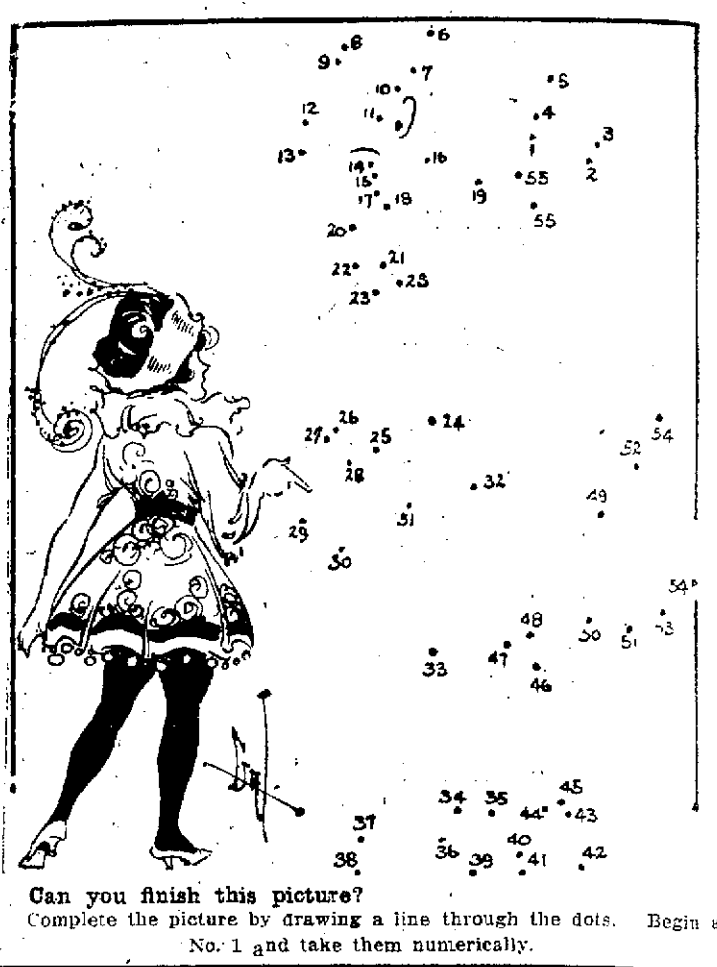

16. "Don't forget that you cannot stop quickly on a down grade or on a slippery pavement."

17. "Don't if you are in a hurry, try to make up time across the street crossings."

18. "Don't leave a motor vehicle unattended so that a child can throw in first speed."

Gentlemen: I ran an adv. in the Gazette on Dec. 4, Tues.,
Dec. 7, and Thurs., Dec. 9, as follows:

FOR SALE—Extra choice S. C. Rhode Island Red cockerels, reasonable.
Old phone 1898. David Booher, Sugar
Beet Factory.

I had one call on Saturday night, two calls on Sunday, two calls Monday, two calls Tuesday, five on Wednesday, six on Thursday, and three on Friday. I had twenty cockerels when I ran the above adv. and I sold all of them, and could have sold more of them if I had them. I think that this shows beyond any doubt that it pays to advertise in the Gazette.

Respectfully Yours,
DAVID W. BOOHER.
